MTH 132 Webpage: You can find all necessary information regarding course schedule, grading, etc..., as well as useful resources on the MTH 132 webpage at the address:

https://math.msu.edu/classes/mth_132/Default.aspx

It includes:

- The schedule of all exams and quizzes (under Common Syllabus Info/Schedules and Dates).

- The grading components and the grading scale (under Common Syllabus Info/Grades). Grading will be based on Webwork (10%), Surveys (2%) Quizzes (18%), Exam 1 and 2 (20% each) and the final (30%).

- Link to the Webwork website (under Webwork) where Homework problem will assigned and completed online regularly. The first webwork assignment has to be completed for Thursday 12, make sure to connect to Webwork as soon as possible!

- Exam locations will be announced under the Uniform Exams section. Instructions for RCPD registration for students with special needs is explained under the same section.

- You will have to complete two surveys during the semester to help the department gain a better understanding of its student population. Completion of these surveys will be counted in your grade (1% each). When available, they will be posted on the homepage of the MTH132 website.

- Algebra review documents and quizzes are available under Resources/Algebra review. You can start looking at them right now to get ready for the semester.

- Lecture notes for the class are available under Resources, chapter by chapter. Also available at the same place are Video lectures by Ryan Maccombs. Watching the Video Lectures for the current section before the lecture is greatly recommended.

Quizzes

Quizzes will be assigned weekly starting the second week of this class. Quizzes will last 15 minutes and will be done in class at the beginning of Wednesday's lecture. There will be 12 quizzes in total during the semester. Occasionally, some quiz may be done at home instead of in class. Quizzes will account for 18% of your grade.
