Prerequisites: Notions of calculus: Math 132 and 133.

Textbook: Understanding Analysis, by Stephen Abott.

Course info and weekly homework assignments will be announced weekly.

Exam Schedule and weighting:

Homework HW assigned weekly will count for 15% of you grade
Quizzes every two weeks will count for 15% of your grade
Max(First Exam, Superquizz) Wednesday, October 7 and 14 counts for 20% of you grade
Second Exam Wednesday, November 11 counts for 20% of you grade
Final Exam Wednesday, December 16 counts for 30% of you grade

Exam times: Midterms and quizzes are scheduled during class periods. The time for the final is 12:45-2:45 in the same classroom the class meets.

Missed Exams: Missed exams will count as 0 points. Only under very rare circumstances (such as illness with a doctor's written excuse) will a make-up exam be given.

All students are required to take the scheduled Final Exam. The university has strict requirements for exceptions.

Homework: The homework assignments are a major part of the course. Homework will be collected once a week and selected problems will be graded. You are expected to do all homework problems and to have the homework stapled and ready to hand in at the beginning of every class.

You are encouraged to help each other on homework. At the beginning of each class a few minutes may be spent answering homework problems.

Attendance: Students are expected to attend all class meetings and are responsible for all of the material covered in class and in the homework. Any changes in this syllabus or in the scheduling of exams etc. will be announced during class meetings.

Study tips:

- Do ALL the homework problems. Mathematics is learned by doing problems, and many exam questions will be variations on homework problems.
- Discuss the homework problems with classmates and work in groups exchanging ideas and discussing questions.
- Take complete notes in class. The course will be based mostly on lectures – more than on the textbook.
- Start working on the homework problems the day that they are assigned.

Academic integrity: Academic dishonesty is considered a serious offense at MSU. Students caught cheating may face failure in the course and an administrative sanction which may include suspension or expulsion from the university. See the MSU Academic Integrity Policies.
